Sept 21 - 24, 2015

Monday 21st September

“He stands alone watching over sacred ground. Springtime is here, flowers everywhere. A sign of life once lived but in death we honour all who stood before the anger of a foe...”

The war years of the last century were both a demonstration of the pain and misery that humanity can bring upon itself as well as the possibility of hope and renewal from such adversity.

This evening we bring you an experience of the music that inspired and galvanised a people in their darkest hours. The music of the war years was often composed in contrast to the reality of the human experience of the day. It was hopeful and fun; as could be heard in the popular dance music that was evident in the evolving jazz music, musical theatre and motion pictures of the time. Other music was more circumspect and connected with the emotional pain of loss and grief.

As we welcome you to our 27th annual Catholic Schools Music Festival for 2015 be prepared to be amazed and entertained by the talent on showcase before you presented by some of our most talented young people in Catholic schools.

We wish to acknowledge and thank the dedication of the Choir Trainers, Music Coordinators and the Festival Committee, who make this performance possible. We also thank the South Australian Commission for Catholic Schools, Catholic Education SA, school principals and you, the families and friends for your support.
